

Mr. Butterfield of Wilmington, moved to lay the motion to reconsider on the table; not agreed to. — Yeas 2, nays 114.

ATTENTION.

Senate Bills referred.—S. 64, relating to the quinquennial valuation of real estate in the counties of Chittenden, Franklin and Windsor, for the year 1870; to select committee on that subject.

Reports.—From select committee on H. 218, to report on the views of Sherman, asking to be referred to the committee for consideration; request not granted.

From select committee (majority of) in favor of S. 67, dividing the town of Westminster. Mr. Clark of Jamaica, for a minority of committee, presented a minority report, which was read. After remarks by Mr. Butterfield of Wilmington, Mr. Lynde moved to lay the same on the table.

owns and

dismissed, and gave as a reason for his motion that the town was insufficient. The motion to dismiss was favored by Mr. Hartsford of Brandon, and Mr. Plummer of Hartford, and opposed by Mr. Butterfield of Newington, Mr. Weston of Newbury, Mr. Winington, Mr. Weymouth, and Mr. Sherman of Dover. After further discussion, the vote was taken, and the motion was lost. Mr. Lynde of Waterbury, raised the point of order that this bill was not in order, and the speaker ruled that it was not in order, and the speaker decided to suspend the rules.

Mr. Henry of Chester, and Mr. Davis of Rensselaer, then presented certain inquiries to the committee, relative to facts appearing before that committee, to which Mr. Lynde replied.

Debate on the merits of the bill was continued by Mr. Lynde of Brandon, Mr. Henry of Chester, and Mr. Davis of Rensselaer.

[illegible][illegible]

At this meeting of the New Haven, Conn., Board of Health, Dr. Noah Cross, State Veterinary Surgeon, made some interesting remarks.

ing statements
that "Cresco is a new form of an old disease. It is recognized coming with the seasonal fevers brought about by the weather. It is a disease now brought with the westerly winds.
The vegetable germ theory is, in Dr. Cresco's opinion, ridiculous. It is not attributable to the vegetable germ, he would like to know how long the disease is to last,
and how long the killing will continue.
He would like to know why they come in the winter months. He would like to know whether the condition produces a change of the blood and this change brings on the fever. He would like to know whether coming from a vegetable germ, the bioplasic germs were diseased, the cells being swollen, and the cells bursting and the cells leading to the fever. The physical cause of the disease is not known, and the trouble. If you ask why it is that only the throat is affected, you will find an explanation. The throat is the seat of the heart. Heat is usually caused. Dr. Cresco

[illegible]

ordered
to be
of Whit
and Mr.
London,
which ment (to
and the
of the third
of Wil
and Mr.
to 10.
ated that
made the
on, at 21
the
and, the
Mr.
by the

The venerable prelate, on the second day of his stay at the Hotel de Clugny, was gorgeously entertained. From the middle of the road a double row of immense trees, planted by the king, with green branches, producing a fine effect, escorted the cortege by the Abbot, was arching over the heads of the guests, and the one used by Charles X., of France, at the coronation. The banquet table, festooned with garlands, and ornamented with the national bearings of French Canadian families, was laden with the most sumptuous and the most delicate viands, and adorned the banquet. Presents of the richest described were not wanting, and the room was filled with the most brilliant and varied articles, such as diamonds, pearls, emeralds, rubies, gold and silver, and the most valuable and beautiful engravings, paintings, tapestries, and furniture. The most valuable and beautiful engravings, paintings, tapestries, and furniture. The most valuable and beautiful engravings, paintings, tapestries, and furniture.

ated by him.
"I was lately invited to dine with gentlemen of the nobility for one week. We had cold-fish for dinner. I remarked to mine host, who was in the act of decussing a large cod, 'Why are you like a gland contained in the body of a fish?'
"He smiled, but couldn't solve the problem."
"Say, I," "Because you are a cold-liver."
"My friend smiled a ghastly smile, and then the ardent and eloquent physiognomy I inferred a duplicate. He exclaimed—
"Why, inaccurate proponent of indigestible conundrums, is a galloway like the article of the gent's' furnishing line?"
"I said—
"Because it is a suspender," he said.
"I retired, and left for pastures new."
"In a popular election for editor of the Standard, I was opposed by a man whose name was chosen with great unanimity.

The disaster of Tuesday is not without its compensation—we are not to have a vice-president who parts his name in the middle.
—Courier-Journal.